STADIUM VILLAGE UNIVERSITY AVENUE STATION AREA PLAN

Adopted by the City Planning Commission July 30, 2012

Adopted by the City Council August 31, 2012

The Stadium Village University Avenue Station Area Plan is a policy document produced by the City of Minneapolis, in partnership with the University and County, to guide land use and development around the Stadium Village station and surrounding areas along the light rail line for the next 20 years. It builds upon the policy direction of The Minneapolis Plan for Sustainable Growth, the City's comprehensive plan. It is meant to articulate a vision for the neighborhood based on existing City policy and input from residents, businesses, students, and employees throughout the planning process. The City, public institutions, and community organizations will use the plan to guide their own decision-making processes with incremental changes to realize the full vision.

The land use and development patterns in the Stadium Village have changed in many ways over the years. The historic core of the University campus has expanded greatly. The industrial areas have contracted, as other uses redeveloped formerly industrial sites. Residential areas still contain historic lower density cores, but now include numerous high density multi-family areas, especially around the edges and near the University. Commercial areas, while continuing to do fairly well, have changed in mix and composition of retail and services in response to changing customer base.

The plan largely affirms the current land use policy framework for the area. The Activity Center area and Transit Station Areas continue to be guided for high density mixed use. There is additional detail as to the appropriate mix of uses and character of each subarea. The area around the Prospect Park station is guided for the most significant transformation, as envisioned through the neighborhood planning process, moving from industrial to transit oriented mixed use. The plan does not make specific recommendations for zoning changes – following the previously adopted University & 29th plan, it supports change while allowing for flexibility regarding the timing and character of that change.
