For wells constructed in a well construction advisory area, approval must be obtained from the Minnesota Department of Health, submit a copy of their approval. See below for definition.

A Special Well and Boring Construction Area (SWBCA), sometimes also called a well advisory, is a mechanism that provides for controls on the construction, repair, and permanent sealing of wells and borings in an area where groundwater contamination has resulted in, or may result in, risks to public health. Special Well and Boring Construction Areas inform the public of potential health risks in areas where significant groundwater contamination exists; assure the proper construction, repair, and permanent sealing of wells and borings within the area; prevent exposure to groundwater contamination; and prevent the spread of groundwater contamination through improperly constructed or sealed wells and borings.

If the well owner is not the property owner, Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 103I.205, Subdivision 8, requires that, “A person may not construct or have constructed a well for the person’s own use on the property of another until the owner of the property on which the well is to be located and the intended well user sign a written agreement that identifies which party will be responsible for obtaining all permits or filing notification, paying applicable fees and for sealing the well. If the property owner refuses to sign the agreement, the intended well users may, in lieu of a written agreement, state in writing to the Commissioner that the well user will be responsible for obtaining permits, filing notification, pay applicable fees, and sealing the well. Nothing in this subdivision eliminates the responsibilities of the property owner under this chapter, or allows a person to construct a well on the property of another without consent of other legal authority.” A signed agreement must be included with if the property owner and intended well user are not the same person or company.

Failure to submit a notification prior to sealing an environmental well is a violation of Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 103I, Minnesota Rules Chapter 4725, and Minneapolis Ordinances Chapters 48 and 216.

I understand that all information provided in this notification is true and complete. I understand that misstatements of facts may result in forfeiture of all rights to licensure/registration as a well contractor/ monitoring well contractor in accordance with Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 103I.
